

What does Insurance cover ?

Marine insurance covers damage and loss in transit from Port warehouse to final destination. If goods will be stored in destination warehouse for more than 2 weeks, insurance coverage will expire. If destination storage is required, additional insurance coverage can be purchased providing storage duration is specified in advance prior to departure from Japan.